

Countryside and Community Foundation

Guidance to Applicants

All applications must have due regard for the charitable objects of the Foundation:

To assist in the funding of post-graduate education, particularly of research students, and research into the countryside economy, the countryside environment and the countryside community, and to publish the results of such research in Britain and member states of the European Community.

All applications should demonstrate an awareness of the Foundation's Terms and conditions.

Eligible costs

- Student living costs
- Student Fees
- Directly incurred costs of research
- Attendance at conferences to present research funded by the Foundation

Co-Funding

Applicants should state the full cost of the activities that they are seeking funding for. However, The Foundation will only fund up to 50% of these costs and the applicant must state where the remaining funding is being sought from. Payments will only be initiated when the co-funding has been confirmed by the applicant.

Applications

There is no specified format for applications. However, the following headings are expected to be responded to where applicable:

- Aim and Objectives
- Method
- Publication and dissemination
- Costs (itemised)
- Phased budget by year (1 April to 31 March)
